Cuban Issue Flares as UN Meet Opens

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

The U.S.-Cuban crisis flared in the U.N. General Assembly today after U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson referred to an alleged campaign of subversion by Cuba against its neighbors.

Cuban Delegate Mario Garcia Inchausti quickly replied that his country rejected the U.S. delegate's charges. He said Stevenson was simply trying to "cover up the large-scale aggression which your government is preparing."

Stevenson, in his main policy speech had touched only briefly on the Cuban situation.

"The government of Cuba, with moral and material support from outside, carries on a campaign of subversion and vituperation against its neighbors in the Western Hemisphere," Stevenson said.

The U.S. delegate demanded that the assembly act immediately to require the Soviet bloc and all other members to pay their share of U.N. costs. He said "We cannot expect the United Nations to survive from day to day by passing a cup like a beggar in the street," he said.

The chief U.S. delegate urged that the United Nations give its main attention now to making itself stronger, more efficient and financially sound so it can meet the task of preserving world peace.

There are ominous threats, he said, in Berlin, Cuba, Viet Nam, Red China, Eastern Europe and the Middle East.

"And most ominous of all, the racial arms race continues unabated," he said. "These situations raise serious dangers to the peace of the world."

Stevenson avoided direct attacks on the Soviet Union. He appealed to assembly members to "replace strident politics with quiet but determined diplomacy."

Stevenson spoke as some Western diplomats expressed concern over growing indications that the Soviet Union was preparing an all-out attack on the United States on Cuba, U2 flights, Berlin and a number of other issues. There also was evidence that the Russians are going to give Acting Secretary-General U Thant a hard time.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko will make his policy statement Friday.

Prizewinning Horse to Show at Fair

AN IMPORTANT PART OF THE THIRD DISTRICT Livestock Show which begins Monday will be the Appaloosa Horse Show and the Quarter Horse Show. Pictured above is Roy Fry of Fulton, winning first place ribbon at the Bessie Riding Club's show last month.

THE FIRST APPALOOSA HORSE SHOW IN ARKANSAS was held here in May and was very successful. The show will start Wednesday at 10 a. m. and will continue with finals in the Coliseum. The Quarterhorse Show starts Tuesday morning and the finals will be in the Coliseum. Both of these shows are free to the public.

EACH NIGHT OF THE RODEO AN APPALOOSA STAKE and Double Barrel race will be held as an added attraction. A horse race is always appealing to the public.

THE SHOW OPENS WITH A PARADE AT 4 P. M. MONDAY. The western phase of the show opens with a parade at 4 p. m. Thursday.

Arrest of Negro in Old Miss Case Barred by U.S. Court Order

Compromise Farm Bill Barely Passes

WASHINGTON (AP)—By a cliff-hanger vote of 202-197, the House passed today a compromise farm bill that included some of the provisions the Kennedy administration wanted.

The compromise bill, worked out by a Senate-House conference, still must be approved by the Senate. That approval is virtually certain.

Before passing the compromise measure, the House defeated by a vote of 15 to 104 a Republican attempt to send it back to conference. That vote closely followed party lines.

The defeated Republican motion would have instructed the Senate-House conferees to return a bill that amounted to a straight extension of present one-year emergency wheat and feed grain programs.

Republicans argued bitterly against the compromise while Democrats contended it was the last chance for a farm program in the coming year.

The bill contains a provision that in 1964 the secretary of Agriculture can set price supports for some crops at a level designed to prevent further increase of government-owned surplus stocks.

Republicans argued that this would mean low price supports, at 50 per cent of parity or 80 cents a bushel for corn, which they said was a ruinous level for farmers.

On the vote, 200 Democrats and 2 Republicans voted for the bill, while 37 Democrats and 10 Republicans voted against.

One controversial section in the bill provides for direct payment to farmers in grain from government surplus stores as part of their price supports. This is aimed at reducing government stocks and saving movements into and out of storage.

State to Share U. S. Leases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas will get $40,776 in receipts the government has collected in mineral and grazing leases and timber sales, the Interior Department said Wednesday.

Twenty-seven states will share in $27,890,000 in such receipts.

Amendment Ballot Titles Announced

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Secretary of State Nancy J. Hall announced Wednesday ballot titles and summaries of three constitutional amendments proposed by the 1961 legislature.

A committee composed of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Comptroller L. A. Mashburn, Mrs. Hall and William J. Smith, legal advisor to Faubus, prepared the information Tuesday.

The listings are, by proposed amendment, title and summary: Amendment 50, "Right-To-Vote, Public Improvements Amendment."

This amendment would remove the 5-mill tax limit on property tax that can be levied by a municipality. It would also remove the ceiling on the salaries of municipal officers imposed by the 1874 constitution.

Amendment 51, "Public Education Amendment." It would provide that no child shall be denied the right to a free public education by reason of refusal to attend integrated schools.

Amendment 52, "Limits Salaries for Certain State and County Officials." This amendment would raise the constitutional ceiling on salaries for state and county officials. It would also provide for the number of justices of peace to be elected in some cases.

There will also be on the Nov. 6 election ballots two other amendments, submitted by petition. One would authorize use of voting machines. The other would guarantee actuarial soundness of the Teacher Retirement System.

The Arkansas Education Association is backing an initiative act proposing to guarantee 50 per cent of the state's general revenue to the public school fund. The ballot will also carry a referendum called on establishment by the 1961 legislature of a Motor Vehicle Commission.

Ballots will be distributed next Tuesday to county election commissions, Mrs. Hall said.

Mississippi Is Firm Against Integration

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department said today it had obtained a federal court order in Mississippi against the planned arrest of James H. Meredith, 29-year-old Negro whose attempts to enroll at the University of Mississippi have become a focal point of civil rights action.

The word came from a department spokesman just after Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had disclosed plans to seek the federal order.

Kennedy told newsmen about the latest government move as Meredith was reported en route to Oxford, Miss., in an attempt to register this afternoon.

Still Seized by Officers at Stuttgart

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas County Sheriff's deputies and federal tax agents have seized what they termed a large commercial still 17 miles south of Stuttgart. Six men were arrested.

An agent for the federal Alcohol and Tobacco Tax unit said the still was raided Tuesday. In announcing it Wednesday, an agent said it was "not something to supply whisky to a Saturday night dance. It was capable of producing 300 gallons of 100 proof whisky every five days."

The ATU said Larry Gill, Lynn Baxter, Charles Turner and James Allen Hewitt were arrested at the still and Bobby Heinzelman and James M. Sibley were picked up in a truck hauling 50 gallons of whisky from the scene. All six are of Arkansas County, agents said.

The six men were given a preliminary hearing before U.S. Commissioner Charles S. Goldberger at Pine Bluff Wednesday on charges of operating an illegal still and possessing untaxed whisky. They were released under $1,000 bond each, agents said.

The ATU said the still was in operation when they found it.

G. D. Royston Announces Candidacy

The Star has been authorized to announce the candidacy of G. D. (Buster) Royston Jr. for state representative on the Republican ticket. Mr. Royston issued the following statement:

"G. D. 'Buster' Royston Jr. has announced his Republican candidacy for State Representative from Hempstead County on the Two-Party System. He was born and educated in St. Louis, Mo. He was educated in both private and public schools and graduated from the University of Missouri.

"He came from the pioneer family of his father's side who lived in Washington, Ark. His great grandfather, Gen. Grandison G. Royston, was the president of the constitutional convention of 1874. He was also in the Congress during the Civil War. His grandfather was Capt. Charles E. Royston. He was elected a number of times in constitutional offices in our country. His great great uncle, Dan Jones, was governor of Arkansas at the turn of the century. His father was a prominent physician in St. Louis until his retirement from practice in 1950.

"His mother's side of the family included his great grandfather, Nathan Cole who was Mayor of St. Louis and served in the Congress during the Civil War. His other great grandfather was John Jackson, president of the South Pass Jetty and figured prominently in the construction of the Eads Bridge that is still spanning over the Mississippi River. Buster's family represents a long line of conservatives, both Democrat and Republicans alike in both families.

"Buster feels that the present day Democratic party no longer represents the people today. It is the party composed of a small number of people who crave for power and personal gain.

"Buster has long been interested in civic, school and political matters starting back with Scout work when he was a boy. He was Eagle Scout, earned 40 merit badges and three palms. He went to Europe on the World Scout Jam-boree in 1937 and the national Scout Jam-boree in Washington, D.C. the same year. He is on the School Board in Beavins, of Hempstead County. With his background in school, education, and work on school board, he knows the problems of the schools in Arkansas. He is thoroughly familiar with farming and engineering, having operated the family farm and working in a number of engineering projects in this area.

"Buster has expressed sharp disagreement with the way the

Potlatch to Build a Paper Mill

WARREN, Ark. (AP)—Potlatch Forests, Inc. still plans to build a paper mill in Desha County, when conditions are right, Benton R. Cancell of Lewiston, Idaho, president, said Tuesday.

Cancell was principal speaker at the Warren Chamber of Commerce annual banquet. He was also in the area to inspect facilities of the firm in southern Arkansas.

Potlatch purchased a 513-acre site in 1959 and announced plans to build the mill. The site is at DeSoto Landing on the Mississippi River between McGehee and Arkansas City.

Cancell said the mill has not been constructed because conditions were not favorable.

"We still think the area is ideal," he said. "The Mississippi River will give us access to raw material and international trade. While it is fairly distant from our wood supplies, it still has other attributes."

The firm also owns the Bradley Southern sawmills in Warren, a hardwood mill in Clarendon and a sawmill at Hermitage. Cancell said substantial improvements are planned at these properties.

Residents of Desha County have approved a $225,000 bond issue to construct a road between state Highway 1, south of Rohwer and Arkansas City, to serve the proposed paper mill site on the Mississippi River.

Cancell said the firm originally planned to build a $35 million plant to produce paper board for use in milk cartons, cigarette and food packages. The plant would employ about 600 people.

Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy and federal marshals expected to accompany Meredith to Ole Miss. The other defendants were Meredith himself and the State College Board of Mississippi.

The Mississippi College Board and state officials met into the early hours today. After the session ended, Gov. Ross Barnett told newsmen he would stand firm on his decision not to let Meredith enter the university.

The board had no announcement on its action. Chairman Tom Tubbs said another meeting was scheduled today.

There was speculation Meredith would be arrested on a state warrant charging him with false voter registration.

Hinds County Atty. Paul Alexander said a criminal warrant had been issued charging Meredith with perjury in connection with his voter registration application.

Meredith was expected to show up in company of a number of federal marshals.

If the university refuses to enroll him, the registrar likely would face federal charges.

Federal courts up to and including the Supreme Court have ordered Meredith admitted to the university as a transfer student, coming from Jackson State College for Negroes.

Barnett told state officials they should be prepared to go to jail or to resign as others could take over their jobs.

In special session, the Mississippi legislature passed a bill which would make it unlawful to admit to the university any student convicted of criminal charges or arrested on such charges involving moral turpitude.

Presumably, this law involved Meredith through the charges of voter registration fraud against him. Barnett signed it into law early this morning.

dent and the American people as well.

The report said "existing military capabilities in Cuba do not endanger the security of the United States" and the resolution is designed to "make sure they do not in the future."

"It is of critical importance that this point be clearly understood by the people of the United States and by the rulers of Havana and Moscow: If the Soviet Union attempts to install, or aid in the installation in Cuba of military force capable of endangering the security of the United States, it will create a situation which the United States will not tolerate and which could have the gravest possible consequences," the report said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told Congress that if the Soviets or Cubans attempt to move arms into other Latin American countries, the armed forces of the United States will be "used to intercept such traffic."

In testimony made public today, Rusk also advised the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committee that American surveillance of the Caribbean area "could lead to certain incidents which would involve the use of the armed forces of the United States."

Rusk's testimony was given Monday in a closed session of the committees. The Senate groups were working on a resolution to express the position of Congress on the Cuban situation.

The testimony was released today in connection with Senate consideration of the resolution. "We are conducting a close surveillance of the Caribbean area, and we intend to enforce the right to conduct such a surveillance, and this itself could lead to certain incidents which would involve United States," Rusk testified.

Secondly, he said, on general grounds, as well as specifically under President Kennedy's Sept. 4 news conference statement on Cuba, "It has been made clear that if the Cubans or the Soviets in Cuba attempted to move arms illicitly into other Latin American countries, or if any elements of armed forces embarked from Cuba for any neighboring countries, that the armed forces of the United States would be used to intercept such traffic."

"Of course," Rusk continued, "if there is attack upon Guantanamo, the President would move immediately with the forces necessary to take the necessary action."

Rusk said that if a situation arose in which it were necessary to "make a major use of the U.S. armed forces against Cuba, the consequences, certainly as far as Cuba is concerned and this country and the potential consequences in other places of the world, would be so large and so significant that the President would be in close consultation with the leadership of the Congress in connection with any such move."

An old Christian tradition says that the Virgin Mary spent her last years in the city of Ephesus in Asia Minor, which was once a great center of pagan worship.

G. D. Royston

Democratic controlled legislature has abused the school teachers of the state. In fact, the legislature and governor's record are very poor in all matters pertaining to the operation of the State's schools in Mr. Royston's view. He vows to work to improve the lot of our schools if elected. He worked for the endorsement of the 3 per cent sales tax, which was passed on in the General Assembly in 1957 and voted on by the people on endorsement in General Election of 1958. It was in clear understanding that the increase of sales tax was to help the public schools and other designated institutions. This had not come to pass. Democratic legislators have gone back on their promise and have voted to divert the general funds intended for public schools for various other purposes. Teachers salaries are falling behind the nation's average fast. It is ranked lowest in the nation. Teacher's retirement system is on unsound basis. Problems of public schools increase each year and are getting worse. All but 14 school districts are heavily indebted. Some can no longer borrow money for any purpose. The school indebtedness in Hempstead County now exceeds one million dollars. Where is it coming from?

"Buster, if elected to the House of Representatives will put forth his platform:

"1. Work for the minimum of 50% of the general revenue fund for public schools.

"2. Work against the diversion of general revenue funds intended for public schools.

"3. Work for sound teachers retirement system.

"4. Work for legislation to put the interest from state funds to work for our state in order to give needed revenue.

"5. Work for safe guarding our public highways against any possible increase of weight loads.

"6. Work against any increase of taxes and against any additional taxes on things already taxed.

"7. Work against the repeal of right to work law.

"8. Work for any possible municipal improvements for the benefit of attracting industries.

"9. Work for the revision of the present Constitution.

"10. Introduce legislation to enable Arkansas to capitalize on the vast tourist traffic through our state. He feels that Arkansas is losing millions of tourist dollars annually because we are ill-equipped to inform and direct them to our major attractions. To correct this situation he will propose that tourist information centers be erected near the border of the state on all major highways. A preliminary survey indicates that a minimum of six such centers will be required to effectively do the job of supplying information and directions to those tourist entering our state who wish to use such a service.

"As Hempstead County Representative his first concern will be a center to be erected on Highway 67 between Texarkana and Hope. This is badly needed to channel a greater flow of traffic to Historic Washington. Here is a point of interest with the potential of becoming a major tourist attraction; it needs, however, some assistance in directing some of the Highway 67 flow northwest to see that such other Arkansas attractions as the Crater of Diamonds, Lake Greason, and Hot Springs.

"They could then resume their trip east after only a few hours and having seen some of Arkansas' best points of interest. Washington would be the first stop on this route. Such a tourist information center would be built and staffed by the state and could operate under the auspices of the Arkansas Publicity & Parks Division. This should not add to taxes or cost local citizens in any way; However, benefits to be derived are immense if this plan is adopted. He will make it a major goal and will work with other members of the legislature for guidance in locating other such center. Tourism will become an increasingly bigger business in America; let's be prepared to get our share of this vast revenue. Let Buster Royston help Hempstead County to get its rightful share of this tourist dollar.

"Buster, while seeking the office as a Republican, will work for the best interest of all. He has no obligation to any group or individual. He feels that conservative voices are needed to speak for teachers, farmers, merchants, housewives, pupils and those interested in the tourist trade in our country. It is time to return politics to the people. You can do that by voting for Buster Royston for the State Legislature."

that. The department has become so inefficient that it can't handle its schedules."

He charged that contractors are being delayed because of slowness of inspections and red tape in making progress checks required by the state and federal governments.

One contractor, who asked that his name not be used, said his company was trying to make an Oct. 15 deadline on asphalt surfacing and did not object to the suspension of the October bids.

Another contractor echoed Hogan's remarks but asked that his name not be used.

Oliver said the bids were not suspended because of lack of money and added that Arkansas is one of 11 states that used all its federal funds through June 30 1961.

He said the state gets $52 million annually in federal money, about $50 million for the interstate program.

Oliver said the state is progressing well on its interstate program — faster than the national average. Nationally, 4.6 miles a day are completed and Oliver said at that rate the program would be finished in 1980 instead of the garget date of 1972.

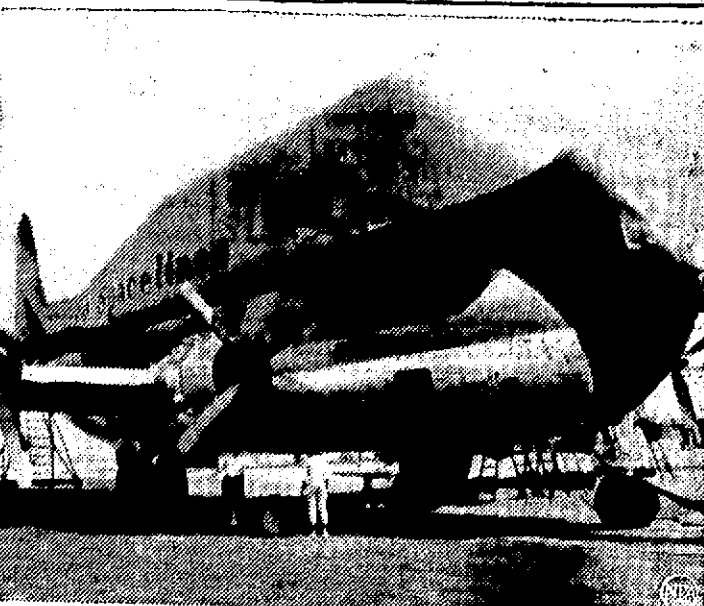

Arkansas is slightly behind in letting interstate projects, Oliver said, because the federal government released $39 million in a lump on Aug. 14 after saying first that the money would be issued $13 million each quarter.

"They said they had the money and were releasing it all," Oliver said. "Some states hadn't been using all their money. If they had, the government wouldn't have told us on June 14 that it was turning it loose in $13 million packages."

Last year Arkansas let $1 million in highway bids, $18 million of which was for interstate roads, Oliver said. He said he did not have figures on mileage immediately available.

Oliver said Arkansas has stayed up with federal fund letting until the package was released.

On the state primary and secondary road programs, the state is ahead of schedule, Oliver said. "We have contracted 77 per cent of the money available to us up until next July. But on some projects, he said, contractors are rushing to meet deadlines. In the 1961-62 fiscal year the state built 475 miles of roads. "We have contracts on $216 million worth of work now," Oliver said, "and $83 million is unfinished."

Cites Hi-way Progress in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas roadbuilding is progressing at an excellent rate despite the fact that the Highway Commission has decided not to let contracts in October to give contractors a chance to catch up.

This is the opinion of state Highway Director F. R. Oliver, who said the holdup in bids would have no practical effect since work wouldn't have begun on them until December anyway and by then the construction season is over.

Oliver announced Wednesday that the Highway Commission had decided to put off October bids "because the contractors were spread to thin."

At least one contractor, Ben M. Hogan Sr. of Little Rock, said "There is not a bit of truth in that. The department has become so inefficient that it can't handle its schedules."

He charged that contractors are being delayed because of slowness of inspections and red tape in making progress checks required by the state and federal governments.

Weatherly Starts Out In Front

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Weatherly, the U.S. defender, built up a quick three-length lead today over Gretel, the Australian challenger, as the third race in the America's Cup competition started today after a 40-minute delay.

The two slops, each with a victory in previous races this past week, crossed the starting line at 11:50 a.m., EST. The start had been delayed when a shift of the wind brought the spectator fleet in direct line with the course the two racers would take. Coast Guard cutters pushed the fleet back.

Olney-Wilson Vows Exchanged

Marie Olney and Lloyd Wilson were united in marriage Sept. 1 at 8 p.m. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Rufus Sorrells in the First Methodist Church.

The bride wore a white satin and lace dress with turquoise hat and turquoise sash shoes. Her only jewelry was a gold cross at her neck. Her corsage of white carnations had a turquoise background and was worn at her waist.

Mrs. LeRoy Cooley, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Gerald Taylor served as best man.

Miss Olney is the daughter of Frank Olney of Eureka, Calif. and Mrs. Louis Rucker Sr. of Kearney, Ariz. Mr. Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Wilson of Ray, Ariz.

After a short wedding trip the couple are at home at 514 East Third Street in Hope.

Riding - Sage Vows Exchanged

Miss Rebecca Ann Riding, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Riding of Hope, became the bride of John Allen Sage of Little Rock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Sage of Prescott on Saturday, Sept. 15 at 4 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. Gladwin Cornish of Dallas officiating. Greenery and baskets of pink mums marked the place of ceremony with a white prie Dieu being used at its conclusion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a brocaded dress of pale blue fashioned with a round neckline and short sleeve. The coneshaped skirt was street-length. Her small white hat had a nose-length veil, and she carried a white. Bible topped with white carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Linda Purdie was the maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of beige which had a full skirt and short sleeves. With it she wore matching accessories and pinned a corsage of pink rosebuds at her shoulder.

Dale Lee of Little Rock served the groom as best man.

Mrs. Riding, mother of the bride, wore a pink brocaded cotton with white accessories. Mrs. Sage, mother of the groom, wore a navy figured dress with a navy hat and other accessories of white. Each pinned a white carnation corsage at her shoulder as did the grandmother of the couple, Mrs. W. P. Sage of Hot Springs and Mrs. Robert Riding of Hope. Also attending the wedding and reception were the bride's grandfathers, Robert Riding and H. D. Calhoun.

The reception which followed was held in the breezeway overlooking colorful gardens. There, a table, overlaid with white lace, was centered with an arrangement of pink roses and white stocks in crystal. A miniature bride and groom topped the four-tiered cake which was trimmed in pink. Miss Linda Calhoun, cousin of the bride, served the cake, and Mrs. B. B. McPherson poured the pink fruit punch. Miss Charlotte Easterling of Prescott was in charge of the bride's book.

Following a trip to Hot Springs, the newlyweds are at home in Little Rock at 1818 West Capitol, Apt. 3E.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamilton, Wes and Betty, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wade, Edward Lafon and Robert Seay, all of Little Rock, and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Riding, Kevin, Robin and Zane of Texarkana.

Duplicate Bridge Meets

There were 3 1/2 tables of players at the Hope Duplicate Bridge Club meeting Monday at the Diamond.

Winning couples were first, Mrs. R. L. Broach and Miss Elizabeth Bridwell; second, Luther Holloman and Dr. George Wright; and third, Mrs. Marie Hendrix and Mrs. Harry Hawthorne.

Wesleyan Service Guild Meets

In the Community Room of the First National Bank the Wesleyan Service Guild No. 2 of the First Methodist Church met on Sept. 18.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Chris Petre.

Miss Troy Hammons and Miss Mary Louise Copeland reported on a Guild meeting at Foreman and several others told of a study attended in Prescott. During the business meeting, a discussion of a prospective study course for the local Guild was held.

The devotion was by Mrs. Hinton Davis, Miss Mary Anita Laseer had charge of the program. Mrs. Petre discussed "What Shall We Tell Our Children About Money?" and Miss Mary Louise Copeland and Mrs. Royce Weisenberger told a story "What Shall We Tell Our Children About Suffering?" The program was closed with prayer.

During the refreshment hour, coffee and cookies were served by Mrs. Petre and Mrs. Don Brown, co-hostesses.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Garrett of Fayetteville announce the arrival of a son born Sept. 13. He has been named Gregory Ward. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ward, Heber Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Garrett of Hope are the paternal grandparents.

Coming and Going

After five weeks at the Shriner Hospital in Shreveport, Lance Jones returned home Wednesday with his mother, Mrs. Haskell Jones.

Mrs. W. W. Duckett returned to Little Rock Tuesday with Mrs. B. E. Newton. They had visited in Dallas over the weekend.

Going to the Children's Colony in Conway Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton of Emmet, Mrs. Haskell Jones, Mrs. Minor Polk and Frances Williams. The latter had been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Secrest.

Mrs. R. D. Haynes visited Mrs. Jack Clark of Alexandria, La. last week while Mrs. D. H. Lipscomb was in Ogden visiting Mrs. Allen Garrison.

Dr. John T. Barr Jr., of West Point, Conn., is visiting his father, Dr. John T. Barr Sr., at the Hempstead County Memorial Nursing Home and his uncle, Harvey Barr. He will leave Hope Friday.

Killed Trying to Move Stalled Car

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A 30-year-old grandmother was killed in a desperate effort to move her daughter's stalled car from the path of a train Tuesday. Marjorie E. Smith of Rod-house, Ill., her daughter and granddaughters were in the car when it stalled on a Wabash Railway Co. crossing. The others jumped out and fled.

Mrs. Smith slid in behind the steering wheel of the stalled car, trying to restart it. As the passenger train approached, Mrs. Smith jumped.

When the train hit the car, the hurtling car hit Mrs. Smith.

Parents Know Best, Says Disillusioned Wife

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Do not scold parents who object when their children want to marry those from the wrong side of the tracks. Many years ago I did just that. Had I looked more closely at my husband's family, had I not romanticized him as a daring young man, I would never have married a man so gross.

A marriage of 26 years could not change this vulgar, uneducated person when put to a real test. My husband lied, cheated, confused every issue, called black white even when proof was positive.

I lost first my respect, then my shaky love for him. With this type it is impossible to talk things over. He always ended by stalking out, with this parting shot, "You are crazy. See a head doctor. Drop dead."

Finally, on the verge of a breakdown, I put aside my religion and left him. In four months I was not only healed but free.

Not long after that he came pleading and promising, putting on the old charm. To me he was a stranger. I saw his small business fall apart from lack of care and order. Our friends were no longer his but mine; and he is now where he was when I met him.

I am at peace. I enjoy church work and help out with charity. A fair inheritance meets my needs; I asked for and receive nothing from my husband. I am now 50, and have much to live for. —Grateful

Dear Grateful: Many a girl thinks her parents are being just plain ornery when they oppose the mate she selected. Usually they object for good reason, based on the wisdom of their experience. Dazzled daughter sees only the superficial points of attraction in her suitor; parents look deeper for the sound qualities of character on which all happy marriage must be based.

Parents can be wrong, of course, and sometimes daughter's choice turns out better than expected. More often their worst predictions come true. This happened to you and you are honest enough to admit your bad judgment.

But there is one point in your letter with which I strongly disagree. I detect a kind of snobbery in your reference to the fact that your husband was "uneducated" and "from the wrong side of the tracks."

Although the most successful marriages are between people of similar background, a man's education and his position on the right side of the tracks by no means guarantee that he will make a perfect mate. He can lie, cheat, and act just as vulgarly as your husband did. A person's social or economic background has nothing to do with his basic integrity, decency, or sensitivity — and these are still, and will always be, the key ingredients of a good marriage.

Dear Helen: You recently printed a letter from a teen who was the laughing stock of her crowd. It found a sympathetic echo in me.

I'm 14. Like her my close friends love to laugh at my reac-to give in to pressure to be "just like everybody else." Some of the greatest names in literature, art, and science began as youngsters who dared to be different.

Dear Helen: I'm married, not quite 29. I have three small children, aged 6 down — and am in love with another man. He hasn't talked about leaving his wife but it wouldn't take much for both of us to make the break. I love my husband but he is always griping about every little thing, tells me how dumb I am, and harps constantly on money. We fight continuously. Should I divorce or quit seeing this other man? If I did, it would kill me, because I can't forget him. —Confused Lover

Dear Confused: You are asking for trouble in a big way. You have three small children and a husband you say you love despite his faults. Yet you are seriously thinking of giving up all this for a man who, you admit, hasn't even talked about leaving his wife.

It's obvious that you haven't really thought of the consequences. However much you think it may hurt to stop seeing this man, think of how much more it will hurt to lose your children and your good name in the community.

I read a lot of books not required for school. English has always been my best subject. I enjoy writing short stories and poetry. I have done this in the school yearbook and on other special occasions.

Thank you for printing the poor girl's letter. Now I know I'm not the only sensitive teen in the world. —Different

Dear Different: Good for you! Stick to your guns. One of the biggest battles people have to wage all their lives, and especially when they're your age, is not the bus

Road Work Slowed by Contractors

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission will not let any construction contracts in October because contractors are so busy that progress on some jobs is at a slow pace.

Highway Director F. R. Oliver made the announcement today, but said the decision was made at the last commission meeting. Today was the normal monthly date for advertising for bids for the Oct. 10 commission meeting.

The meeting will be held but no bids will be opened.

Oliver said the volume of contracts has increased and there was no reduced performance capacity by contractors.

Some jobs are months old, he said, and "progress on them is practically nil."

Oliver said one project is only 13 per cent completed while 78 per cent of the allotted time has been used.

A contractor on the Little Rock freeway project was notified that overtime damages probably would be assessed. These can range from $35 to $200 a day.

Oliver said the department has $21 million worth of jobs under contract, of which $83 million have been completed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has fired another nuclear test in the atmosphere, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission reported Tuesday.

The AEC said the device fired in the arctic test area had a low yield. The test was the 13th announced by the AEC in the current Soviet series.

Window Washer Dies From Freight

NEW YORK (AP) — Window Washer John Hirowski, 63, apparently was frightened to death Tuesday when his safety belt broke, leaving him dangling by one strap and screaming for help below a sixth-floor window in Manhattan.

He hung suspended at least 10 minutes outside the West 54th Street apartment building before a tenant heard his screams and called police.

When officers got to the window 10 minutes later, Hirowski appeared to have stopped breathing. He was pronounced dead of heart failure.

When men meet in Yemen they kiss hands. But, if one man is of higher rank than the other, the man of lesser rank will also kiss his elbow and shoulder.

Blytheville Grows

BLYTHERVILLE, Ark. (AP) — More than 23,000 persons are expected to be added to the official population of Blytheville in a special census underway. Ben D. Smith, field agent for the U.S. Census Bureau, who is directing the count, estimated the additional population. The survey is being made because of the recent annexation of the Blytheville Air Force Base.

Troops Called in Argentina Rioting

By ROMAN JIMENEZ BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Troops from the countryside converged on this capital today under orders from President Jose Maria Gido to crush an uprising by army rebels.

Guido received Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, a rebel leader, Wednesday night. Ongania had come to explain the rebel position. Instead he was handed an ultimatum to end the uprising at once.

Defying the ultimatum, Ongania returned to the rebel stronghold of Campo de Mayo in a Buenos Aires suburb, vowing to fight to the last to enforce the rebel demand that Argentina return to democratic rule.

The rebels accused the military command of moving toward military dictatorship.

Guido then ordered a joint operation against the rebels by the army, air force and navy.

But the air force commander, Brig. Cayo Antonio Alsina, said his forces would not take part.

No decision was announced by the navy. However, Campo de Mayo said in a communique navy planes dropped flares on tanks advancing from Magdalena to support the rebels.

Calling the president a virtual prisoner of the Army high command, Ongania said Guido acted with "astonishingly tragic celerity" in laying down an order "for forces whose objective always has been to defend him from the coups and treasons suffocating him."

The insurgents, strongly entrenched at Campo de Mayo, claimed support of the mechanized cavalry and some infantry units in other parts of the country.

About 27,000 of Argentina's 70,000-man army are based at Campo de Mayo.

Ongania has demanded the ouster of the army commander in chief, Gen. Juan Lario, and army chief of staff Gen. Bernardino Labayru. Rebels claim they intend to set up a dictatorship. The rebels also seek early elections and a speedy return of the government to the people.

Lackluster Trading on the Market

By ED MORSE AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices sagged moderately in another lackluster market today. Trading lagged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 4 at 223.7 with industrials down .7, rails down .2, and utilities down .1.

Declines of most key stocks were fractional. Movements of some of the higher-priced issues and the "growth" stocks were somewhat wider.

There was little in the news to spur prices either way. Midly depressing to Wall Street was news that durable goods new orders fluctuated downward in August and that Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon said prospects for a U.S. budget deficit should not occasion "fears of inflation."

Fear of inflation was one of the main factors which boosted common stocks in recent years, brokers agreed.

The trend was a bit lower among steels, motors, aerospace issues, electronics, chemicals, rails, tobacco, drugs, and electrical equipment.

Swinging in accordance with technical market factors, Polaroid recovered more than a point Xerox dropped about 2, Korvette declined well over a point, and IBM eased fractionally.

Some selling pressure continued on the steels. U.S. Steel dropped 1/4 to 40 on 6,000 shares. National Steel was off 3/4 at 29 on a block of 4,200 shares. Other major steels were easy.

An hour-long television show Wednesday night about smoking seemed to have scant effect on the tobacco. Lorillard and American Tobacco were off fractionally.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.47 at 404.2. Corporate bonds were irregularly higher. U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

Benton Fair Queen

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Marsha Atkinson, 17, of Rogers, was named Benton County Fair Queen Tuesday night at Bentonville.

The Rogers High School senior was selected from a field of 17. About 1,000 persons attended the pageant.

Weird Space Plane Is Unveiled

By RALPH DIGHTON LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The weirdest-looking space plane this side of science fiction was unveiled here Wednesday by the Air Force.

It's the X20 DynaSoar, scheduled to be blasted into a 100-mile-high orbit around the earth by a Titan III booster sometime in 1965.

A model of the triangular shaped black space-glider, 35 feet long and 20 feet across, was shown publicly for the first time at the Air Force Association convention.

Technical men familiar with sketches and photographs of the X20 were startled by the vicious ugliness of the full-scale mockup. With its upturned wingtips and long snout, the X20 looks like its designer managed to cross a mantia ray with a shark.

The Air Force also announced the names of the first six men who will fly the X20. The pilots, all from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., are Maj. Henry C. Gordon, 37; Maj. James W. Wood, 38; Maj. Russell L. Rogers, 34; Capt. Albert H. Crews Jr., 33; and Capt. William J. Knight, 33, all of the Air Force, and Milton O. Thompson, 36, test pilot for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Sometime next year one of these men will be at the controls when the X20 makes its first test flight at Edwards, home of the X15 rocket plane.

For these flights, the X20, like the X15, will be carried aloft by a B52 bomber.

Unlike the X15, which has reached record speeds of more than 4,000 m.p.h. and a height of 314,750 feet, the X20 will set no records at Edwards. These flights will be tests of the X20's ability to maneuver in the atmosphere. Records will come later at Cape Canaveral, Fla., where the X20 will be blasted into orbit at speeds of 17,000 m.p.h.

After one or more orbits, the X20 is scheduled to land at Edwards, beginning its long descent glide somewhere over Hawaii.

The Air Force said the X20's Titan III booster rocket, under development, will have a thrust of more than 2 1/2 million pounds. The X15 rocket engine, by comparison, generates 57,000 pounds of thrust.

State Farm Income 8 Per Cent Up

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank said Wednesday cash farm income in Arkansas was up eight per cent in July 1962 compared to July 1961.

The 1962 farm income for the state was set at $32,257,000, according to figures the Reserve Bank said it obtained from Department of Agriculture estimates.

The bank said retail furniture store sales were down seven per cent in the Little Rock area in June 1962 from July 1961. Little Rock is in the 8th Federal Reserve District.

Sales had been up 27 per cent in the area in July of last year, while the district recorded a 7 per cent decline in the past year.

Bank debits, at $296.3 million in July 1962, were up one per cent from August 1961. In El Dorado debits were listed at $40.3 million, down four per cent; in Helena, $12.2 million, up one per cent; in Fort Smith, $84.5 million, down three per cent; in Texarkana, $32.7 million, up five per cent; and in Pine Bluff, $61.8 million, up five per cent.

Construction contracts in the district were down from $190,691,000 in July 1961 to $171,886,000 in July of this year. Department store sales were up seven per cent in Little Rock, July 1962 over June 1962.

Mangled Leg Had to Come Off

WEST ISLIP, N.Y. (AP) — Mark Turco, 10, was reported in fair condition today although still on the critical list following an operation in which doctors cut off the mangled leg they had sewed back on a week ago.

Mark's left leg dangled from his body by only shreds of tissue after he was struck by a car in front of his Babylon, N.Y., home last Tuesday. Doctors joined the severed bone with a metal pin and sewed together the torn arteries and muscles.

Monday Mark developed a blood infection. To save his life, doctors had to amputate the leg.

Bobcats Travel to Smackover Friday Night

By VINCE FOSTER

Friday night the highly rated Hope Bobcats travel to Smackover to meet the ever-tough Ballin' Buckaroos in Hope's first AAA trial. Although the Bucks lost their first two games by a total of only 11 runs, Coach Guy Hays will have the team full force against the Cats to stay alive in the AAA ratings.

After placing third behind AAA contenders Camden and Fairview in the Camden Jamboree, the Bucks lost their opener in a hard fought 20-12 game with strong AAA El Dorado Wildcats. Last week Smackover lost an early lead, and the ball game to Fairview 9-6. The Bucks are rated 11th in AA statewide.

Smackover's attack is based on the passing ability of 160 pound junior QB Tommy House, who is the main reason the Bucks lead the league in passing yardage with 193 for two games. The next closest contender has 71 yards. House passed four yards and 82 yards for the two scores against El Dorado. David Corley at 210 pounds is the weight man for the Bucks in his right tackle position. 185 pound FB Robert Mitcham is the heaviest back. The Bucks are almost as large as the locals and probably faster.

The top passing team in AAA will have to cope with the Bobcat defense, which leads the district in pass defense with 26 yards given up in two games. Hope has only allowed one completion in 11 attempts. That in itself should make an interesting ball game. Also the locals are making their '62 debut in the district while the Bucks have already suffered one defeat and cannot afford another. Hope's rating has risen to 7th in the state and second in AA, behind Jonesboro. Smackover is not to be taken at all lightly, because they have exceptional strength, ability and Buckaroo boasting. The locals will have to equal their performance of last week's offense and strengthen their defense. Follow the Cats to Smackover Friday night and show your interest. They'll need it.

Porks Polish for Season's First Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The University of Arkansas Razorbacks went through a series of "put and take" drills Wednesday.

Coach Frank Broyles used the down and distance—I put the ball here at third down, you take it from there—drills to make spot checks of fundamentals. The workout was also used to polish the offense and polish play calling. Broyles tapped sophomore quarterback Billy Gray of Helena to punt for the Porks when they face short kicking downs. It is legal in college football for the kicking team to down a punt in enemy land.

Gray's kicks go high and easy, Broyles said. "They just seem to hang up there."

Billy Moore of Little Rock held on to his position as quarterback in the season opener against Oklahoma State University Saturday night but end Jim John of Stuttgart remained benched.

Moore has suffered a hairline rib fracture and missed most all of the fall contact work. John was downed last week when he smashed a blood vessel in his nose.

If the Hogs kick off, Jim Grizzle of Fort Smith will start in Johns place. If they receive Jerry Lamb of Houston, Tex., will play. Lamb is on the Big Red unit.

Other player shifts included Hoover Evans, Fayetteville, to strong side end for the Tush Hogs. He had alternated with Tim Langston of Batesville. Evans has had a recurrent neck injury this fall.

Richardson's Hitting Takes Yanks to Win

By MIKE MATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Richardson, first American Leaguer to reach the 200-hit mark since 1936 has fired a four hit salvo in his bid to become the second hit-'em-where-they-ain't swinger in 10 years to grab the most valuable player award.

Playing a key role in New York's rise for its 12th pennant in 14 years, Richardson went 4-for-5 in an 8-5 victory over Washington Wednesday night that moved the Yankees a giant step closer to their 27th championship. The Yankees second baseman brought his hit total to 201, raised his batting average to .305, scored his 95th run and drove in his 57th tally while helping the American League leaders reduce their magic pennant-clinching number to five.

Any combination of five Yankee victories and-or Minnesota defeats will clinch it for New York. The Twins remained in contention as Harmon Killebrew tagged two homers and Vic Power hit a grand slam homer in a 12-5 wallop of Detroit.

Home runs by Leo Burke, Jim Fregosi and George Thomas gave the third-place Los Angeles Angels a 9-4 triumph over Baltimore that snapped a six-game losing streak. The Angels are 7½ games behind with nine to play. The Yanks and the Twins have eight games remaining.

Walt Bond and John Lomano drove in all the runs while Dick Donovan became the second AL hurler to win 20 as Cleveland outslugged Kansas City 10-9. Dike Hershberger's leadoff homer in the 10th gave the Chicago White Sox a 3-2 decision over Boston.

In the National League, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers reduced their magic number to seven by blanking Milwaukee 4-0 while second-place San Francisco whipped St. Louis 7-4 and remained 3½ behind.

Pittsburgh shut out third-place Cincinnati 1-0 and Philadelphia nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in the first game of a doubleheader called due to rain in the sixth inning. The second game was postponed as was the Houston-New York twin bill.

Killebrew continued his campaign for the home run and runs batted in crowns by bringing his homer total to 42 and raising his RBI mark to 123, both tops in the AL.

Burke, Fregosi and Thomas accounted for six of the Angels runs while home runs by Jim Gentile and Charley Lau took care of three Oriole tallies.

Bond drove in six runs with two homers and a double for the Indians while Romano knocked in four with the same production in support of the 34-year-old Donovan (20-9).

Hershberger, hitting his fourth homer, made it his third game-winning circuit shot when he tagged Red Sox reliever Dick Radatz (9-6) leading off the 10th.

Sikes Lone Arkansas Survivor

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—R. H.

Sikes of Springdale is the sole Arkansas survivor in the National Amateur golf tournament here.

Sikes took two match play victories in the tournament while M. C. Methvin of Little Rock was eliminated. Richard Crawford of El Dorado was defeated in the first round Monday.

In his first match Wednesday, Sikes, 22, edged Ed Korylak of North Hollywood, Calif., 1-up. In the afternoon he downed Billy Edwards of Garden City, N.Y., 3 and 2.

Methvin was tripped by Downing Gray of Warrington, Fla., 3 and 2, in the second match of the day for both players. Methvin had earlier defeated Paul Wise of Ardsley-On-Hudson, N.Y., 5 and 3. Monday, Gray eliminated Crawford who, as a student at the University of Houston, won the National Collegiate Athletic Association golf championship two years in a row. He is the only man who has accomplished that, Sikes, who became the first to

Teacher Retirement Takes a Loss

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Teacher Retirement System took a $41,806 loss on sale of $1 million worth of low interest commercial school bonds Wednesday. Hoyt R. Pyle, director, said the loss is expected to be recovered through investment of the sale money in higher yielding corporate bonds. Pyle said the system sold $1,000,576 in bonds for $958,770. He said the funds will be invested in Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration mortgage certificates expected to yield $12,500 annually above the three per cent return of the commercial school bonds.

Dodgers Back on Track With Drysdale, Wills

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Don Drysdale applying the stop and Maury Wills the go, the Los Angeles Dodgers are back on the track in their stretch drive for the National League's winner circle.

Drysdale put the stopper on the Dodgers' three-game losing string Wednesday with a five-hit pitching gem as the front-runners knocked off Milwaukee's streaking Braves 4-0.

Wills triggered the attack by opening the game with a single, stealing second, moving to third on a hunt hit and scoring the only run Drysdale needed on a double play grounder.

The Dodger whippet has 94 steals, with one game left to match or better Ty Cobb's 154-game record of 96. His chance to better the 47-year-old mark will come Friday night at St. Louis against the Cardinals.

The Dodgers maintained their 3½ game lead over the San Francisco Giants, who powered their way out a six-game losing slump on homers by Willie Mays and Tom Haller and beat the Cards, 7-4. The loss was the eighth in a row for St. Louis.

Bob Friend pitched a six-hitter and Donn Clendenon homered as Pittsburgh trimmed Cincinnati 1-0, dropping the third-place Reds 5½ games off the pace. Philadelphia downed Chicago 4-3 in a doubleheader opener shortened to six innings by rain. The second Phillies-Cub game was postponed, as was the two-night doubleheader scheduled at New York between the Mets and Houston.

In the American League, the New York Yankees stayed four games in front by overcoming Washington 8-5, runnerup Minnesota swamped Detroit 12-5, Los Angeles bombed Baltimore, 9-4, Chicago edged Boston 3-2 in 10 innings, and Cleveland outlasted Kansas City 10-9.

Mays whacked his 45th homer, high in the majors, and Haller connected for two as the Giants topped Jackson with a five-run explosion in the third, when Mays homered with two on and Haller with one aboard.

Bob Friend of the Pirates became an 18-game winner with his six-hit shutout of Cincinnati. Clendenon settled matters in the seventh with his homer.

By winning their abbreviated match with the Cubs, the Phillies made it five straight victories, 14 in their last 17 games and moved up to the .500 mark for the first time since May.

Better Breakfast— Join Cereal With Apples

Hot from the oven, baked apples and ready-to-serve oat cereal—a nutritious efficient breakfast main dish for a Better Breakfast.

The nut-brown flavor of the oats, the amber syrup of the apple, the crispy bite of the oats, the smoothness of the fragrant fruit, combine to make a completely satisfying breakfast cereal and fruit serving. Add milk, or half and half, and you will have a company breakfast dish. Bake the apples the night before and heat with extra syrup and the cereal, in the morning, or use canned baked apples, they are fine! Wide-mouthed shallow baking dishes make it possible to pour a full portion (1 ounce) of ready-to-eat breakfast cereal around the apple, and allow space for milk. A cereal and milk serving offers protein, valuable B vitamins, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin, as well as essential minerals for the morning meal.

Baked Apples with Glazed Oat Cereal

4 baked apples ½ teaspoon lemon rind
¼ cup butter or margarine 2 cups ready-to-eat oat cereal
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons light corn syrup

Place apples in individual oven-proof serving dishes. Melt butter or margarine in small skillet. Add sugar, corn syrup and lemon rind. Heat until bubbly and sugar is dissolved. Add cereal and stir until cereal is evenly coated with syrup. Spoon cereal mixture around and in center of apples. Heat in moderate oven (375°F) until cereal is lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Serve with milk or cream. Yield: 4 servings.

Steel Tells Woes to the Stockholders

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry has been airing its woes but without taking time off from its drive to sell more steel.

Steel leaders have been telling Congress—and also the stockholders—about the woes.

Most publicized are lower earnings, sometimes lower than current dividend rates, and in other cases low enough to trigger dividend cuts. Looming large is increasing competition from foreign steel mills. Hurting for several years has been the growing inroad of other materials into steel's old markets. And all of these have been compounded by an inventory glut in the hands of steel's customers, now slowly disappearing.

But over the horizon is still another problem—the steel unions are beginning to talk about reopening their contracts next year to seek a wage increase.

The woes of the industry are real enough. But there are signs that the steelmen are doing something about it. For several years the drive was to increase input production. Now the emphasis is on technology to produce steel more cheaply and on marketing—creating new uses, recapturing old customers.

Inroads of aluminum, copper, glass and other materials in the vehicular industry are being combated by new high-strength alloy steels. They boast both light weight and strength.

The American Iron and Steel Institute strives to encourage more imaginative use of steel. A steel products design competition currently is being cosponsored by the National Design Center in New York.

The container industry took about 10 per cent of total steel shipments in 1961. A Youngstown Sheet & Tube executive predicts this year some eight million tons of steel, or about 11 per cent of the total, should be sold to this industry.

Competition here has grown in recent years from paper, glass, aluminum, copper, plastics. But the steelmen have come up with a thinner tin plate to compete. Jones & Laughlin also is in there, pitching with a tin can pantry program, complete with menu planning and food preparation advice.

The drive to win new markets or recapture old ones is on in earnest. But even the steel salesmen admit that the near future prospects depend upon a still unresolved uncertainty: Will business in general be stepped up or down—especially in the heavy industry, transportation, appliance and construction fields? Getting a bigger share of the market is fine, but there has to be a healthy market.

Newport Goes Against Bonds

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—At the end of counting Tuesday night opponents held the edge in voting on a $154,000 airport improvement bond issue.

With 39 of 53 precincts tallied the vote was 979 against the issue to 934 for it. The remainder of the boxes were to be counted today.

The bond issue was called to provide funds for rebuilding of the water system that serves the airport, now Newport's industrial park. Funds would also be used to construct a new terminal building at the airport.

There are 7 industries at the airport now, employing 519 persons.

The Federal Aeronautics Authority ordered the city last September to close down the plant because it was operating at a $400 a month loss. When the bond issue was called, the FAA gave a time extension on the closure.

The bonds would be retired from assessment of a 184 mill tax.

9-State Medical Meet Starts

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A 9-state conference on obstetric, gynecologic and neonatal nursing began today in Little Rock with a discussion of delivery room emergencies.

The panel discussion was led by Dr. Byron Hawks, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock.

"Pregnancy offers no immunity to disease," he said, adding that diseases provide the complicating factors that lead to most delivery room emergencies.

Among the principle diseases mentioned by Dr. Hawks were cardiac arrest, diabetes and tuberculosis.

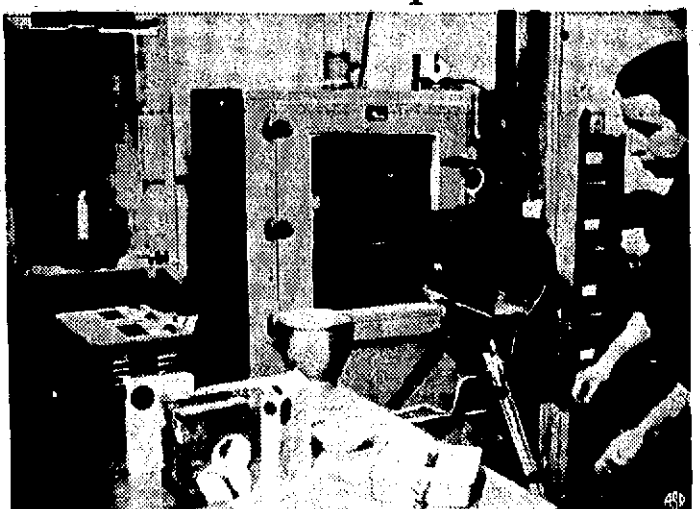

States represented at the meeting, which continues through Friday, are Alabama, Arkansas, Kan-150 persons.

Individual plant locations around the state tend to go unnoticed and not be fitted into the overall growth of the state.

But put together, the string of newcomers seems to be fairly constant and highly valuable to Arkansas economy.

'Batter Up!'

Scientific oven in a good chemistry laboratory helps to take the guess work out of modern cake baking, recorded in time-lapse photos.

Spectacular desserts are a hobby with teen agers, brides, and mothers, thanks to foolproof, prepared cake mixes that need only the addition of liquid ingredients to live up to the beautiful picture on the package.

Young cooks go on from there, ad libbing with pudding mix fillings, peaks of fluffy frostings, candy and candle decorations, or "Happy Birthday, Daddy" right out of a pastry tube. Unlike their grandmothers they need not worry about coarse grain, or a gummy cake, or how to release the "bubbles" in the baking. These crucial things have already been worked out scientifically by the amount of food grade phosphate incorporated into the mix. A high school girl can concentrate instead on showing her French class an American shortcut to crepes suzettes, or demonstrate her prowess with a fine thread in slicing a freshly baked cake into many layers, then alternating them with rich chocolate for a Dobitsch Torte.

Leavening agents are researched and regulated in the food chemistry laboratory. Here special food grade phosphates release the leavening power at just the right time for perfect development of cake cells or bubbles. The food chemist knows that to make a cake light and fine grained every time only 30 per cent of the carbon dioxide should be released during the mixing of the batter; the rest, slowly and evenly during the baking.

File that under "Things I never knew 'till now," or forget it; and go on to create a new spectacular for tonight's dessert.

Marvin Sees Need for More Violence

By DORIS KLEIN

"Newton Minnow and the PTA don't know what violence is," he growled.

"What we need is more violence."

Marvin, who is too easy-going to strike a woman, wanted to make it clear that he wasn't afraid that opposition, from the Federal Communications Commission or Parent-Teacher groups, would hurt him in his lucrative career as a film bad man.

"This business of films inciting people to violence is a lot of nonsense," said he.

"You don't see real brutality in films. Most of it is in the audience's mind."

"One of the most violent moments in films is Frank Sinatra's fight scene in 'From Here to Eternity.' And all you saw was the two guys' feet. The rest was left up to the imagination."

"You take this brawl I get into with John Wayne in 'Donovan's Reef.' It's really a farce. But when we got through, John Ford, the director, said, 'Now they'll think they've seen a helluva

Plum Good Eating!

Idaho calls fresh Italian plums, one of her top Autumn fruit crops, "purple plums," a name which fits these regal-colored beauties so well. And here, thanks to Nature's gifts to the State, they really do grow larger, sweeter, even more delicious. The season is so short and these plums are so easy to freeze, that it's wise to prolong their enjoyment by stowing away some of this luscious fruit in your freezer.

This Purple Plum Crunch may be made with either fresh or home-frozen fruit. It's a sort of combination Cobbler and Deep Dish Pie, but with a most unusual crust. Serve it with a Take-Your-Choice-of-Toppings tray—a pitcher of pour-over cream, a bowl of slightly-sweetened whipped cream with a dash of cinnamon atop or grated orange rind. Or some cream cheese whipped to a fluff with a bit of milk, topped with bits of candied orange peel or with toasted slivered almonds.

Purple Plum Crunch

Place in baking dish—oblong 7 x 10 x 2 inches or square 8 x 8 x 2 inches—about 4 cups pitted and quartered Idaho Purple Plums or enough to fill dish to within ½ inch of top. Sprinkle with mixture of 4 tablespoons brown sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, stirring in a bit with a fork.

Topping:

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour ¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup granulated sugar ¼ teaspoon mace
1 teaspoon baking powder 1 egg well-beaten
½ cup (1 stick) butter, melted

Combine all dry ingredients in flour sifter and sift into beaten egg. Using a table fork, mix together until very crumbly. Sprinkle crumbly mixture over top of plums. Do NOT mix in. Drizzle the melted butter all over top of crumbly mixture. Bake in 375-degree F. (moderate) oven for 45 minutes. Serve warm. Makes 6 to 8 servings, depending on appetites.

Grocery List, Appetite Not Even

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Balancing the national budget is mere routine compared with my job of trying to get the grocery list and the family's appetite to come out even.

No matter what slide rule computations, horoscopic predictions and plain old guesswork I use, I always have either too much food for the family, or too much family for the food.

Take bananas, for instance. Please do take bananas. We have 17 extra ones this week that are rapidly developing a deep Florida tan.

Recently bananas were high on the pantry popularity poll. My daughter suddenly developed an unprecedented taste for them. My husband put in an unusual request for a double banana split. And my son went on a binge that would have done credit to a starved monkey.

In the face of the acute banana shortage stalking our household I nobly omitted it from my breakfast cereal. But even this sacrifice failed to close the gap between supply and demand.

For days I was subjected to accusing glances and muttered remarks about how some mothers didn't care if their families expired from malnutrition.

Recognizing a mandate when I saw one, I returned from my next shopping trip to the grocery loaded like a banana boat.

Suddenly the bottom fell out of the banana market in our household. My daughter had launched on a snack diet of apples and peanut butter. My husband was bemoaning the newly activated hole in his belt and my son wouldn't have touched a banana wrapped in a dollar bill.

Potatoes pose another problem that I face almost nightly. If in the course of human events the young man of the family gets hold of a bowl before his sister does, he piles mashed spuds on his plate higher than Mt. Everest. Anguished cries rend the air as a nearly empty serving dish continues its rounds.

In an effort to make amends, the next time I peel every potato in sight and offer a heaping mound to my starch-hungry children. The amount they skim off

Drought Ruining Hawaii Crops

HONOLULU (AP)—A drought is ruining the 1962 and 1963 sugar crops on Hawaii Island, 200 miles southeast of Honolulu.

The Hawaiian Sugar Planters Association estimates 1962 losses at more than $2.5 million and say that the 1963 losses will be greater because next year's cane is being harvested now before it is completely destroyed.

Since a rainstorm April 2, 1961, produced 20 inches of water overnight, the island's northern areas have been virtually dry.

on this occasion would fit nicely in a demitasse cup.

Noodles, spaghetti and macaroni received similar unpredictable receptions. And as for meatballs, I've never guessed right yet. There's either not enough or three times as much as anyone wants.

One of these days, though, I'm going to beat the game. I'm going to buy a huge supply of the little packets of frozen food that cook in five minutes. I'll keep the kettle boiling all through the meal and just keep dropping packages in as long as anyone is hungry.

State Getting Big Surge Industrially

By J. C. Tillman
Associated Press Staff Writer

Arkansas is experiencing an apartment industrial surge.

The Arkansas Newsletter, published by the state Chamber of Commerce, lists nearly $2 million in new industries coming to various sections of the state.

It also listed 7 plants that plan expansions.

Since the newsletter's August report, more than $800,000 in additional industry has been planned for the state.

There have been no huge industries, such as Borg-Warner which moved earlier this year to Fort Smith. But the stream of the new locations is steady and increasing.

Latest of these is the movement to the Little Rock industrial park of Orbit Valve Co. of Tulsa, Okla.

This firm, which manufactures valves for the petroleum industry, chose the state because of its central location for distribution of its product to oil-producing states. It formerly was in Tulsa, Okla.

From a 100,000 square foot plant the firm will hire 18 employees and have a $1 million annual payroll.

Among new plants in the steady influx are Baxter Laboratories, to locate at Mountain Home with a $1 million plant; Hytrol Conveyor at Jonesboro in a plant financed by a $225,000 bond issue and National Wire Fabric Corporation at Star City, in a plant to cost $107,000.

A New York shirt manufacturer has agreed to locate in Hamburg if a $350,000 bond issue is passed. The Little River County Development Council has agreed to sponsor a program designed to attract a garment industry.

Ozark Mosaic Stone Co. has begun construction of a new plant at Bentonville, Chase - Grocord Rubber Co. has located at El Dorado and Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. opened its $250,000 operations center at Texarkana in July.

Arkla's Reynolds Gas Regulator Division, now in Anderson, Ind., will move into a $550,000 plant at Sheridan.

Other newcomers include Burch Plow Works, Evansville, Ind., which will locate at West Memphis in a $1.3 million plant; Sarks-Tarzan Co., which will employ about 200 persons at Clarendon in manufacturing electrical components for radio and television sets and a branch plant of the Frederick H. Elvy Co. of New York at the old Schumaker Naval Depot at Camden. The Levy firm makes industrial links.

Engineered Wood, Inc., which owns eight sawmills in the state, has announced it will build a 40,000 square foot wood laminating plant at El Dorado, contingent on passage of a $412,000 bond issue.

Hamburg residents have been asked to vote on a bond issue to $1.1 million plant; Hytrol Conveyor at Jonesboro in a plant financed by a $225,000 bond issue and Na-

Coffee Crumb Cake And Coffee, A Perfect Kaffeeklatsch Pair

Most warm and hospitable of all refreshments is homemade coffee cake served with a steaming pot of coffee. When the cake is cut and the coffee poured, guests settle back to enjoy a bit of leisurely conversation.

There are all kinds of coffee cakes, of course—some plain, some fancy. But we're especially proud of this wonderful Coffee Crumb Cake. It's easily made with biscuit mix, appropriately flavored with coffee. Even the sweet nutted topping is enhanced by the addition of a little coffee.

Once the cake is out of the oven and ready for your company, you can start the coffee brewing. Just make sure that your coffee is just as flavorful and inviting as the coffee cake!

Coffee Crumb Cake

2 teaspoons instant coffee powder
2 cups, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons salad oil
2 cups seedless raisins
Combine biscuit mix, sugar and instant coffee powder. Combine eggs, milk and salad oil. Stir into dry ingredients. Stir in raisins. Spoon into well-greased 9-inch layer cake pan at least 2 inches deep. Spread topping mixture evenly over batter. Bake at 375° for 30-35 minutes. Or use two 8-inch layer cake pans and bake 20-25 minutes.

Topping:
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons biscuit mix
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon instant coffee powder
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
Combine all ingredients, except walnuts. Blend with a fork until crumbly. Stir in walnuts.

An American Dream Did Come True

By ANDREW MEISELS

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur B. Belfer arrived here from Poland on Sept. 5, 1939—four days after the outbreak of World War II—without a penny in his pockets or an asset to his name.

Belfer, 55, and the head of a far-flung business empire, donated $2 million to Yeshiva University Tuesday for its Graduate School of Science.

The events of the 23 years in between read like the fulfillment of the American dream.

Belfer was a successful dealer in down and feathers in Cracow, Poland, when he set sail for the United States on a business trip, leaving his wife and three children behind.

When he arrived here he discovered that Poland had ceased to be an independent country. The money he had with him and the funds he had left behind were worthless.

His situation was precarious in another way, since he had entered the United States on a visitor's visa and had no country to return to.

Belfer was detained at Ellis Island for three days, then was allowed to enter the United States for 60 days on condition he would emigrate to Canada.

He left Ellis Island—after borrowing $5 for spending money—and made his way to Canada. Later he obtained an immigrant's visa and returned to the United States. Subsequently, he managed to bring his family here.

Using his knowledge of the international feather market, Belfer interested a New York broker in purchasing feathers in Europe, where they were selling far below U.S. market prices.

The result of these transactions permitted him to get back into business on borrowed money. By 1942 he was manufacturing sleeping bags for the armed forces.

In 1946, Belfer became a U.S. citizen. Four years later he branched out into the foam rubber business. In 1952, he went into oil in Texas and acquired property in Wyoming.

Belfer is head of the Belco Petroleum Corp., which deals in oil and natural gas and is listed on the New York Stock Exchange. His son, Robert, is a lawyer with the corporation. Belfer's two daughters are married.

Production Lags
PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Agriculture shortcomings including lagging production and lack of mechanization, are being discussed throughout the country under auspices of the Communist Party Central Committee, the official news agency CTK reported Monday.

Company Names Arkansas Official

ST. LOUIS, Ark. (AP)—National Rejectors, Inc., of St. Louis has named Frank L. Tupper, Conway, executive vice president.

Tupper had been serving as vice president and general manager of Customized Products Corp. in Conway. Both firms are subsidiaries of Universal Match Co.

Customized produces refrigerated display cabinets and fabricated metal products. National Rejectors produces coin and currency mechanisms for vending machines. It has plants in Hot Springs, Ark. and in Buxtehude, Germany.

Tupper will be in charge of all operations of National Rejectors. He succeeds David D. Mason, who recently resigned.

Tupper joined the Universal Cabinet division of Universal Match in 1960. He formerly was executive vice president of the Durham Manufacturing Co., Muncie, Ind.

A successor to Tupper was not named.

Features at Markets This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cooler weather makes oven cooking more pleasant and weekend markets attractions make it more economical this weekend.

Several roasted meats are sporting lower price tags in the nation's supermarkets.

Boneless chuck, round and rump roasts are popular beef features. One national chain is featuring boneless chuck roast at 5 cents a pound in its New York outlets while charging 59 cents for roasts with the bone in.

Ground beef is also regionally a bargain.

For pork partisans, loin roasts and other pork roasts are widely featured. Hams and smoked picnic are also bargain priced many places.

Turkey, broiler and baking hen prices continue relatively low.

For pan cooking, rib steaks and pork chops seem the most general bargains. There are several fish attractions, including cod steaks at 39 cents a pound in one chain's New York area stores.

Vegetable attractions include sweet potatoes, green peppers, radishes, okra, green beans, cabbage, carrots, celery, corn, tomatoes, onions, squash and eggplant.

Fruit features this weekend include honeydew melons, limes, apples, grapes, nectarines and pears.

Egg prices have been creeping up but are still reasonable, with the smaller sizes generally the best buy on a per-pound basis.

Milk and dairy products generally remain economical.

Child Strangled by Blind Cord

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A 15-month-old girl was strangled Monday by a venetian blind cord hanging from a window. Police said the child, Lori Anderson, rocked her crib across a room to where she could reach the cord. She was found by her mother.

Rights Group Asks Housing Measure

By STERLING P. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next big move in the civil rights field may be the long-promised presidential order outlawing discrimination in federally aided housing.

President Kennedy has delayed for 20 months, waiting for what he has called an appropriate time to sign it. A made-to-order occasion is coming right up.

It is Sept. 22, the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation. Yet Washington isn't making any bets Kennedy will find that anniversary appropriate.

Lincoln signed two Emancipation Proclamations—a preliminary one of Sept. 22, 1862 and the final freeing of the slaves on Jan. 1, 1863.

So next New Year's Day also would be symbolical.

But Jan. 1 is months away, and the pressure on Kennedy grows daily. Some advisers are sure that the appropriate time, politically speaking is before the Nov. 6 Congressional elections.

These same advisers want Congress out of town before the order comes. They fear it would affront Southern members whose support is needed on major administration bills.

In terms of economic impact, the appropriate time might be even further away. Builders say the order would seriously curtail new construction activity. Housing officials believe the builders exaggerate.

For Negro and civil rights groups, growing ever more vocal and powerful, the appropriate time is long-passed. They have criticized the President for not acting.

Back in 1960, when Kennedy was a candidate, it must have looked easy. Kennedy scolded President Dwight D. Eisenhower for not acting. It could be done, Kennedy said, by "a stroke of the presidential pen."

Making good on this campaign pledge has become one of Kennedy's most perplexing problems.

He decided the political difficulties were far outweighed by the issues of law, equity, and constitutionality. After all, Kennedy hadirked Southern politicians when he promised the order. And the non-partisan Civil Rights Commission, created by Congress itself, has officially demanded it.

Still, the question remains: how far can Kennedy stretch his presidential power?

Few have questioned his authority to enforce integration in public housing, where the federal cash is a direct subsidy. Not many challenge his power to bar discrimination by banks and loan companies in dwellings which are financed with Federal Housing Authority mortgage insurance or Veterans Administration loan guarantees.

Less clear are situations in which the government merely funnels money, when needed, into the banking system and the savings and loan industry to pump up the supply of mortgage credit; or merely regulates the lenders; or just provides insurance for their deposits, which may in time become mortgage loans.

In these and other ways the government has some strings, however tenuous, on virtually every lender. Can it therefore dictate the terms of its loans? Most government lawyers say yes, in this case. They believe it would be impractical, if not illegal, to issue an order which binds some agencies in the housing credit field and not others.

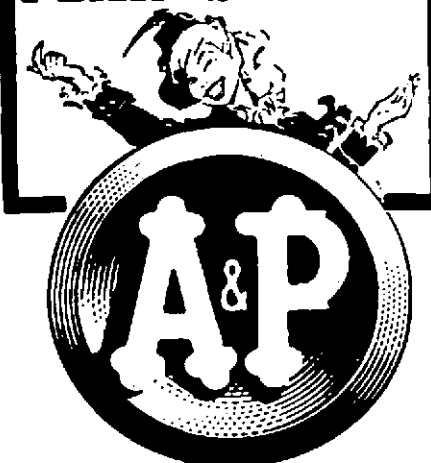

Traffic Tickets Haunted Him

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Those traffic tickets Johnny Gettah kept getting came back to haunt him. Police said he had accumulated 41 tickets. They figure he owes the city $2,385.

Johnny received most of the tickets before his 17th birthday. As a juvenile, the court couldn't force him to pay. Last week he was 17 and the judge told him to pay up or go to jail.

Johnny went to jail Tuesday. He'll get $3 credit for each day behind the bars.

Bachelorhood Course Was Not Needed

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—I gave my son a short course in bachelorhood.

He didn't really need too much practice because he's been a bachelor all of his 17 years.

But up until now he's been a passive bachelor. As of now, he's going to be an active one.

Brenn has gone to college, far away from home, and his education will include a lot of things not in textbooks.

The first thing he will learn is that clean shirts do not grow on hangers in closets. He will also find out that fresh socks and snowy underwear don't turn up in bureau drawers, untouched by human hands.

Besides teaching him the rudiments of the washerwoman's trade, I have attempted to instill in him some notion of the proper way to make a bed, how to iron a shirt in an emergency and how to write checks. He learned that fast.

I didn't have to instruct him in how to sew on buttons. The school system took care of that long ago when they put him, as well as a number of other reluctant seventh-grade boys, in a sewing class. I never found out what the girls were doing that year—probably studying electronics and sheet metal work.

Project for the male seamstresses was a shirt and Brenn duly purchased the material and made a stabbing attempt at cutting it out.

Work went slowly. He was absent from school a lot that year. Finally I noticed all his illnesses seemed to come on Tuesday. Later I found out that sewing class was held on Tuesdays. Somehow he got better after I made that connection.

All went fairly well until the day he reported in near-hysteria that he had lost the whole front to his shirt. It was impossible to match the material and anyhow he was too far behind to start on a new front.

A few days later I came across the missing piece, wadded up in his pants pocket.

He never did get the shirt finished, but somehow managed to pass the course. Now that his diploma is pasted into the family scrapbook with unremovable glue, it's safe to admit that it was through the intervention of a kindly neighbor with a sewing machine.

Harrowing as that sewing course was, for both Brenn and me, I guess it was time well spent. At least he knows which end of the thread goes into the needle.

Russia Calls on Allies to Quit Berlin

By JOHN FIEHN
BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Union has refused to renew four-power relations in Berlin and has issued a new call for the Western Allies to abolish immediately their "NATO military base" in the divided city.

The Soviet statement came Monday as thousands of Allied troops in combat gear launched a major test of their ability to spring to West Berlin's defense.

The alert, involving most of the West's 11,500-man garrison, ended early today. Military officials were reported satisfied with the results.

The Soviet government statement, released in Moscow, rejected the Western position that Berlin still is under four-power control. It ignored Allied calls for re-establishing relations broken last month when the Soviet Berlin commandant was withdrawn and his post turned over to an East German.

The statement claimed four-power administration has not been in existence since 1948 when, it said, the United States, France, and Britain set up a separate military command.

"West Berlin has now been turned into a military base of the aggressive North Atlantic bloc directed against the U.S.S.R., the G.D.R. (East Germany) and other peaceful states," the statement said.

Calling for abolition of the Western base, the statement said, "the Soviet Union had nothing to do with these unilateral actions of the Western powers and cannot bear responsibility for their consequences."

The West Berlin alert was the first major Allied test exercise since April 3. A spokesman said first major Allied test exercise since April 3. A spokesman said it was designed to "test and evaluate the mobility of Allied units and their ability to react to various situations."

The test was directed by the French commandant, Maj. Gen. Edouard Toulouse. He was assisted by the U.S. and British commandants, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II and Claude Dunbar.

The U.S. Army has 6,500 men in West Berlin, the British 3,000 and the French about 2,000.

Heat Stroke Is Fatal to Texon

DALLAS (AP)—Reggie Grob, University of Texas sophomore football player, died Tuesday—the second victim of a heat stroke in the Southwest Conference in 18 days. It brought a plea for a change in athletic training methods.

Coach Darrell Royal of the University of Texas said he was willing to work out a revised training program with other coaches. Grob died at Parkland Hospital after being flown from Austin in a last-ditch effort to save his life. He was stricken at the opening practice session Sept. 1, and his condition became critical from kidney and liver complications.

His death came as a second shock to the Southwest Conference, which never had had a football fatality until Mike Kelsey, Southern Methodist junior center, died from a heat stroke the day after fall practice opened.

Royal said that when Grob became ill, he changed training schedules at Texas to include

Suit Filed Against TV Producer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department announced today filing a proposed consent judgment which would end its civil antitrust suit against MCA, Inc., the nation's biggest producer of filmed television shows.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the action filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles achieves all the major objectives of the suit brought against MCA last July 13.

The judgment will become final in 30 days, he said. Kennedy said it provides that Universal Pictures must sell its principal asset, its film library, to Universal is a subsidiary of Decca

Records, Inc., acquired by MCA last June 18.

The judgment also incorporates the provision of a July 3 interlocutory order in which MCA agreed to dissolve its talent agency and to stop influencing its clients in the choice of a new agent, Kennedy said.

Also prohibited are "tie-in sales" under which MCA could require purchasers to buy items they do not want in order to get desirable products. This applies to filmed television shows, feature films and records.

In the suit, brought under the Sherman Antitrust Act, the Justice Department charged that the MCA had used its "unique dual role" as a talent agency and television program producer to gain competitive advantages over other agencies, had engaged in unlawful tie-in sales and had forced clients into package representation contracts giving it the right to sell all productions in which the client had an interest.

A sheila is a girl in Australian slang.

Ordeal at Comanche Wells

By Benjamin F. Copps

THE STORY: The Mexican known as Torres continues to be a mysterious figure in Comanche Wells and a second bribe offer has been made by Stephen Pendergrass, who is trying to persuade Deputy Youngblood to quit the sheriff's force.

XVI

The judge was surprised to see his brother coming down the courthouse corridor toward his office.

"From your remarks when I left your house last week, I gathered you would not seek my company again." He held the door open for his brother, without verbal invitation, and closed it behind him.

"I come out of pity, Albert," the big man said. "I come out of pity. And this will be the last time."

"I'm afraid your pity will be wasted. In fact I'm quite sure you are wasting your time and my time. Stephen, why do you press this matter? Why won't you let it drop? We have already gone too far, you and I, and it will be a miracle if we ever feel like brothers again."

"This is the last time," the big man repeated. "I just want to make sure that you see yourself for what you are. You preached to me about the issues, I stand on, I just want to make sure you see yourself as I see you."

"They stood to feel apart in the office. Neither had any inclination to sit. There was no friendliness in their words. 'Well?' the judge asked."

"The political power of this state is changing. You understand that all to well; you're a politician, Albert. The rabble is trying to take over this state, the Grangers. They almost have the legislature already."

"The judge was smiling faintly. 'They remind me of a bunch of saddle tramps riding the grub line,' his brother went on. 'After we've conquered the land and made it safe for them, they sneak into the cattle country and squat. They can't make a living farming so they steal beef to eat. Or they set up in town to cheat boys out of their wages. They expect to take power, not because they deserve it in any way, but because of their numbers. They're like flies pestering a steer. And you take sides with them.'"

"The judge kept his little smile. 'You may as well know that I don't take your arguments seriously, Steve. I found out the other night that ideas or ideals don't mean much to you. Like a child, you want your way. But I will say this: If wanting to bring this murderer to justice puts me on the wrong side in your books, well, that's that.'"

"You and your two-bit job as a judge! You are a fool, Albert. How in the Sam Hill do you think you can hold Ivey?"

"I'm not a big enough fool to tell you how. But we can do it." "You haven't got a chance," the big man said. "Albert, I know who's the power behind this plot to get Ivey. Nobody but you. Without you, Sheriff Bell would knock under. And what chance have you got. You're a weakling and a cripple. I could knock you through that wall with one hand."

"I didn't mean to talk to you seriously at all today," the judge said. "but look at yourself. You are sailing your hands. You are stooping to something beneath you. Let those who are really guilty take their medicine. You are above it; the other ranchers are above it. Let Ivey and the man who paid him to kill reap what they have sown. It's unworthy of you."

Something in the words of the judge had struck deeply into Stephen Pendergrass and he responded with his characteristic anger. He towered over the judge, spluttering, almost incoherently.

"You're a fool!"

The big man slammed the door and the ceilings and partitions of the entire courthouse reverberated.

Charlie Moss met Youngblood as he entered the hotel.

"You're not a very hard man to find," Charlie Moss said, laughing.

"How's Lila?" Youngblood asked.

"She's all right. I had to make a solemn promise I would look you up the first thing when I got to town."

"Does she cry?"

"Well, uh . . ." Charlie Moss laughed a little. "I wasn't going to say anything about it, but, yes, she does."

"They were halfway through supper before Youngblood asked, 'What do you think I ought to do? You think she is just being silly?'"

His uncle chewed thoughtfully. "I'll tell you what, if you want to bring her back to town, I believe Annie will come with her. That might help."

Before Youngblood headed back to his duties, he and his uncle agreed that Lila would be brought back to Comanche Wells as soon as it was convenient for the rancher to bring her. The deputy felt happier about it than he had in weeks.

Killed in Wreck

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP)—Retired M-Sgt. John I. Kunka, 46 of Logan, Okla., was killed in a traffic accident five miles north-west of here Tuesday. Earl Lewis, 75, and his wife, Florence, 73, were injured. State police said the accident happened when a pickup truck driven by Mrs. Lewis turned into the path of Kunka's car. Kunka was en route from McDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla. to Salina, Kan.

There is an ebb and flow near the mouth of Strawberry river. It will flow for an hour, then stop, start to flow again. Somewhere back in the underground is a natural check valve that causes the phenomenon.

The Flavor's Frozen In

Mornings start better with a tall glass of Florida orange juice. Its wonderful sunshine flavor is a good eye opener, tart and refreshing. Orange juice is the best and most reliable natural source of daily-needed vitamin C. The flavor is frozen right in concentrated orange juice, as are the healthful nutrients.

And this year, you can afford to enjoy the clean refreshment of Florida orange juice as a pickup during the day, thanks to the largest orange crop in history which makes a glassful of this juice cost less than four cents right now!

If you store frozen orange juice concentrate in the ice cube compartment of your refrigerator in a temperature range of 10 to 25°F., it is best to use the juice within a week. In the freezer compartment, at temperatures of 0 to 15°F., the juice may be kept up to 3 months with no loss of quality. Longer storage periods are possible in a home freezer maintaining a temperature of 0°F., or below. Once thawed, orange juice should be used immediately.

Here's a nutritious breakfast-in-a-glass suggestion:

Florida Nog
1 cup Florida orange juice 1 egg
1 tablespoon sugar

Combine all ingredients; beat with a rotary beater until blended. Pour into a 12-ounce glass. Serve immediately. Yield: 1 serving.

Fishing Along White River Is Tradition

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fishing White River has been an Arkansas tradition as long as people have known about the stream.

The trout fishing for about 40 miles south of Bull Shoals dam lures more fishermen than have ever before floated the river but the stream's fame was secure long before his Corps of Engineer began drawing up plans for the big dam.

In its great years, White River partisans hailed it as the finest smallmouth bass fishing stream in the world.

The cold water which comes from beneath Bull Shoals froze out the bass fishing, but it brought on the trout angling which now attracts sportsmen from many states.

There are many natives of Baxter and Marion counties, where most of the trout fishing is done, who feel that trout fishing doesn't match the old sport of smallmouth fishing. However, they know that the best of the bass fishing was over long before the dam was built.

"In the old days, before I started fishing, the men would often combine a fishing and hunting trip down the river from Branson, Mo. to Cotter," said Alton Deatherage of Cotter. "They would catch a train to Branson, buy or build a boat there and begin the float."

"After floating through Lake Taneycomo, they would haul around the dam at Forsyth and get in the river. From there, they could make their own pace, taking a week or 10 days up to a month for the trip."

"Along the way, they could fish for bass and hunt everything from wild turkeys to ducks and geese. By today's standards, the fishing was almost always good. Of course, sometimes it was better."

"When the trip was over, they could either sell or trade the boat."

These were among the first float fishing trips, as such. Many people think float fishing originated in White River country.

Later, there were refinements to White River fishing. When trucks and automobiles became commonplace, boats could be hauled and more people fished on the river.

It wasn't until shortly before World War II that float fishing on a commercial basis became a big operation. Even then, there were only a handful of sportsmen compared to the thousands that fish annually on White River now.

Bass fishing began to decline from its peak in the mid-thirties, possibly as a result of increased fishing pressure. There was no federal program to provide replacements, as trout are replaced now.

But Deatherage and many other residents of the area, enjoyed fishing in a time when nature provided plenty of replacements.

"Once three of us motored upstream and floated about 10 miles," he said. "We fished nearly all day and caught about 75 bass. Most of them were nice ones too."

Deatherage said the biggest bass he caught out of White River averaged 4 to 5 pounds. Bigger ones were sometimes landed by gig fishermen, but they were usually too powerful for ordinary tackle.

These are large sizes for smallmouth bass in swift streams. Buffalo River, now considered the premier smallmouth stream in the state, seldom yields one as heavy as 4 pounds and that is considered big news.

Smallmouth weighing over 5 pounds are sometimes caught in lakes, where fish grow fatter than in streams, but they are looked upon as prizes worthy of mount-ing.

Project Approved
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark. announced Tuesday a $1,018,000 federal expenditure has been approved for a pumping station in the Village Creek, White River and Mayberry Levee District. Mills said the Federal Budget Bureau ordered Army Engineers to begin construction plans for the project. A $211,000 local contribution is to be made to the plant.

7 Colleges to Begin TV Classes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Seven Arkansas colleges will give credit for work in the Columbia Broadcasting System television series "American Economy" which begins on CBS stations Monday.

The telecasts will be daily from 6:45 a.m. to 7:15 a.m. in the 60 telecasts throughout the 1962-63 school year, leaders in business, industry, agriculture and commerce will appear as guest lecturers.

The Arkansas schools offering credit are Southern State College, Ouachita Baptist College, Arkansas State College, Arkansas State Teachers College, Henderson State Teachers, Little Rock University and Arkansas AM&N.

Texarkana Junior College, on the Texas side of the state line, also will offer credit and the University of Arkansas has recommended the course as supplementary material for its own extension work in economics but is not offering credit.

The course will be taught by Dr. John R. Coleman, economist from Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Dr. Kenneth O. Alexander of Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

State Teachers, Henderson and Ouachita will hold registration for the course Saturday. They will

Seeks Dental Health Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A committee of the Arkansas Dental Association met with Gov. Orval E. Faubus today to seek his help in improving the state's dental health program.

Dr. William R. Patterson of Texarkana, spokesman for the group, said there were some legislative matters in which the association is interested, but that it did not want to release details on them yet.

The association also is interested in establishing a dental hygiene school in Arkansas.

Non-political Trip Failed to Be One

By ARTHUR EDSON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A president may not have politics uppermost in his mind every time he makes a move. But once the deed is done, it's bound to have, for better or worse, political consequences.

No president has been more aware of this than John F. Kennedy.

Rarely has it been more sharply illustrated than in his trip last week to look over space installations at Huntsville, Ala., Cape Canaveral, St. Louis and here. Especially here.

This was advertised as a non-political jaunt, and, on the surface, it was.

Kennedy dutifully mentioned the space program is bipartisan. He fetched along Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, ranking Republican on the Senate Space Committee, to prove the GOP has no objections to the United States getting a man on the moon first.

But a few nagging questions kept bobbing up.

How come Kennedy chose to travel at this time? Could it be possible that with Congress still in session, and with Kennedy having no desire to stir up the animals, this was thought to be an ideal way to make news without

The variety of aerosol food preparations—such as this push-button salad seasoning—is steadily growing, thanks to the ingenuity of an industry dedicated to lightening the modern housewife's chores. Other handy aerosol aids for the busy cook are cake decoration, dessert toppings, flavor extracts, lemon juice, meat tenderizer, frying oil, whipped cream and milk additive. Gray Named by Highway Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Henry Gray, former land manager for the Game and Fish Commission, has been appointed chief of the Highway Department's Right of Way Division, Highway Director F. R. Oliver said today.

Gray succeeds Mack Sturgis, who recently resigned to return to his old job as state purchasing director.

Gray was in the land management division of the Game and Fish Commission for about 10 years.

Pike county was named for Lt. Zebulon M. Pike, an early 19th Century explorer of the Southwest, and Murfreesboro, the county seat, was first called Zebulon.

else without scientific training, as simulate much on such a hurry up journey? A giant Saturn booster rocket, such as he saw at Huntsville, has to be seen and heard and felt—and be scared of—to be believed. But couldn't the President get as much information in one well-written letter, particularly since he's a speed reader?

Does the sight of a president scurrying through a plant or an installation really boost workers' morale. Or is it the morale of the Democratic party that gets the lift?

This thought was expressed in a cartoon by Jim Berryman of the Washington Evening Star. He drew a Democratic donkey applauding Kennedy and saying: "First in space, first in peace, first in November!"

Kennedy stood to reap a rice harvest of political hay even if it wasn't planned that way.

How can a politician miss if he goes all out for astronauts?

When Kennedy got to Houston all non-political pretense was dropped.

Kennedy said he had invited only top representatives and senators on the space committees. This turned up Rep. Bob Casey, a Democrat in whose home district all the activity was to take place. Casey hasn't been too enthusiastic a New Frontiersman.

"All the earmarks of a slap in the face," Casey cried.

Not so, Kennedy told a news conference.

Kennedy brought along an all-star cast with this road show, including Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas' No. 1 politician, and David E. Bell, Bureau of the Budget director. Bell will have a lot to say about how much money is spent on Houston's Manned Space Center.

This turned up Jack Cox, Republican candidate for governor. "Political blackmail," he called it.

No Indian Crisis

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon left for London today saying there is no need for a crisis atmosphere over Red Chinese incursions into Indian territory. He will attend the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

'Batter Up!'

Scientific oven in a good chemistry laboratory helps to take the guess work out of modern cake baking, recorded in time-lapse photos.

Spectacular desserts are a hobby with teen agers, brides, and mothers, thanks to foolproof, prepared cake mixes that need only the addition of liquid ingredients to live up to the beautiful picture on the package.

Young cooks go on from there, ad libbing with pudding mix fillings, peaks of fluffy frostings, candy and candle decorations, or "Happy Birthday, Daddy" right out of a pastry tube. Unlike their grandmothers they need not worry about coarse grain, or a gummy cake, or how to release the "bubbles" in the baking. These crucial things have already been worked out scientifically by the amount of food grade phosphate incorporated into the mix. A high school girl can concentrate instead on showing her French class an American shortcut to crepes suzettes, or demonstrate her prowess with a fine thread in slicing a freshly baked cake into many layers, then alternating them with rich chocolate for a Dobitsch Torte.

Leavening agents are researched and regulated in the food chemistry laboratory. Here special food grade phosphates release the leavening power at just the right time for perfect development of cake cells or bubbles. The food chemist knows that to make a cake light and fine grained every time only 30 per cent of the carbon dioxide should be released during the mixing of the batter; the rest, slowly and evenly during the baking.

File that under "Things I never knew 'till now," or forget it; and go on to create a new spectacular for tonight's dessert.
